Important note to parents

- The catechists volunteer their time to this program because they believe in the religious potential of the child. In order for the children to fully explore the joy of their relationship with God, parents must be committed to bringing their children faithfully to the program. Please kindly let the catechists know via e-mail or text if your child must be absent for a session.
- In the event of unavoidable illness, family responsibilities, or inclement weather some sessions may be cancelled; however, we will try to ensure this happens as rarely as possible.
